GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING

GOVERNOR FRANK O. LOWDEN, OF ILLINOIS

Governor Lowden's Welcome Home To Illinois Soldiers

Men of Illinois I welcome you home. You entered the service of your country knowing something of the trials, dangers and sufferings that were ahead of you. Some of you crossed the sea to meet those dangers in the trenches, on no man's land and on the battlefields of Europe. You saw your comrades fall but you kept on. You saw them borne away on stretchers or in ambulances, never expecting to see them again. But you and many of those who left you wounded and sick have come back. With the men who spent months in camps in the United States and had none of the excitement and dangers of battle yet who nevertheless served their country to the best of their ability, you have come home. You know what that word means, now, if you did not know before. Home is Illinois, America, the best country in the world. It has always been worth fighting for. Your comrades now sleeping on foreign battlefields have proven it is worth dying for and you have shown it is worthy of the great risks you have taken.

Now, men of Illinois, weary of war, longing for home and the quiet pursuits of peace, you have a new task before you. It is the preservation of the liberties for which you risked your all. It is the resumption of peaceful relations. Great problems lie ahead of us and you must aid in their solution. I am sure you will prove equal to that task as thoroughly as you met the demands of the last two trying years.

Springfield, Ill., June 9, 1919.

The Beginning of the World War

June 28, 1914, Frederick Francis Ferdinand, Austrian Archduke, and wife were assassinated at Sarajevo, Bosnia. This furnished the excuse for the world war which ended five years later, June 28, 1919, with the signing of the treaty of peace at Versailles. The shot which led to the war was fired by a student named Prinzip. Austria made demands on Serbia for a hand in Prinzip's trial. International complications followed, which resulted in the World War. Prinzip died of tuberculosis in jail long before the war ended.

Fought mainly in Europe, the war falls into periods briefly characterized thus: 1914—The year of the German rush across Belgium and into Northern France, with its staying at the Marne, and of hopes based on the Russian "steam roller" in East Prussia and Poland.

1915—The year of the second Russian advance, and its repulse; of the Gallipoli adventure; of Italy's entrance against Germany, and Bulgaria's with Germany; of Serbia's disaster.

SINKING OF LUSITANIA

On May 7, 1915, occurred an event which filled the world with horror. This was the sinking by a German submarine of the great Cunard liner Lusitania without the slightest warning or giving the least opportunity for her people to escape.

The result was the loss of 1134 non-combatants, about half of them women and children, and more than 200 of them Americans.

UNITED STATES DECLARES WAR

After two years of effort on the part of President Wilson to recall Germany to observance of the laws of civilized warfare the break finally came on January 31st.

On that day Berlin decreed to itself the ownership of about half of the Atlantic ocean for its submarines and assumed to bar out of this "war zone" not only all enemy, but all neutral vessels, under penalty of destruction.

On February 3, the German Ambassador to the United States was handed his passports. On April 2 President Wilson asked Congress to make a formal declaration of war, which was passed and signed on April 6—Good Friday.

1916—The year of Verdun and the Somme; of Rumania's entry and betrayal.

1917—The year of America's entry; of the Russian revolution and collapse; of Italy's disaster and retreat to the Piave; of the British victories in Mesopotamia and Palestine.

1918—The year of the last German drives, to the turning of the tide at Chateau Thierry; the year of Bulgaria's, Turkey's, Austria's collapses and submission; the year of victory and the signing of the Armistice, November 11, 1918.

THE GREATEST SINGLE HERO

Out of all the millions who went to war, a Tennessee soldier from the little town of Pall Mall has been declared the greatest single hero of the conflict,—by Marshall Foch, and by the United States Congress who voted him the Congressional Medal of Honor for the most splendid individual achievement of the war. Sergeant Alvin York killed twenty Germans, took 132 prisoners and put 36 machine gun nests out of working order, all "on his own." And this particular American was a "conscientious objector" at that; in other words, he didn't believe in killing. It's no wonder the Germans quit when the Americans got into action.

Four Million Men

THE MEN WHO SERVED

EDITOR'S NOTE --- These illuminating figures are from the official records on file in the office of the Secretary of War, Newton D. Baker. They were compiled by Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, of the General Staff.

About 4,000,000 men served in the Army of the United States during the war (April 6, 1917 to November 11, 1918). The total number of men serving in the armed forces of the country, including the Army, the Navy, the Marine Corps, and the other services, amounted to 4,800,000. It was almost true that among each 100 American citizens 5 took up arms in defense of the country.

During the Civil War 2,400,000 men served in the Northern armies or in the Navy. In that struggle 10 in each 100 inhabitants of the Northern States served as soldiers or sailors. The American effort in the war with Germany may be compared with that of the Northern States in the Civil War by noting that in the present war we raised twice as many men in actual numbers, but that, in proportion to the population, we raised only half as many.

It would be interesting and instructive to make comparisons between the numbers in the American armies during the present war and those of France, Great Britain, Italy, and Germany, but unfortunately this is most difficult to do fairly and truly. The reason for the difficulty lies in the diverse military policies of the nations.

It was the policy of France, for example, to mobilize and put into uniform most of the able-bodied men in the population who were not beyond middle age. Some of these were sent into the combatant forces and services of supply of the active armies. Thousands of others were put at work in munition factories. Others worked on railroads or cultivated their farms. In general, it was the policy of the Government to put its available man power into uniform and then assign these soldiers to the work that had to be done, whether it was directly military in nature or not.

In the United States it was the policy to take into the Army only those men who were physically fit to fight and to assign them, save in exceptional cases, only to work directly related to the ordinary duties of a soldier. The work of making munitions, running railroads, and building ships was done by men not enrolled in the armed forces of the Nation.

It was not until the German drive was under way in March, 1918, that the Allies called upon America for the supreme effort that carried a million and a half soldiers to France in six months.

THE SELECTIVE SERVICE

The willingness with which the American people accepted the universal draft was the most remarkable feature in the history of our preparation for war.

The first registration, June 5, 1917, covered the ages from 21 to 31. The second registration, one year later (June 5, 1918, and August 24, 1918), included those who had become 21 years old since the first registration. The third registration (September 12, 1918), extended the age limits downward to 18 and upward to 45.

In the physical examinations the States of the Middle West made the best showing. Country boys did better than city boys; whites better than colored; and native born better than foreign born.

In this war twice as many men were recruited as in the Civil War and at one-twentieth of the recruiting cost.

There were 200,000 Army officers. Of every six officers, one had previous military training with troops, three were graduates of officers' training camps, and two came directly from civil life.

THE AVERAGE MAN

The average American soldier who fought in France had six months of training here, two months overseas before entering the line, and one month in a quiet sector before going into battle.

Most soldiers received their training in infantry divisions which are our typical combat units and consist of about 1,000 officers and 27,000 men.

Forty-two divisions were sent to France.

More than two-thirds of our line officers were graduates of the officers' training camps.

France and England sent to the United States nearly 800 specially skilled officers and non-commissioned officers who rendered most important aid as instructors in our training camps.

THE TRANSPORTATION MIRACLE

During our 19 months of war more than 2,000,000 American soldiers were carried to France. Half a million of these went over in the first 13 months and a million and a half in the last 6 months.

The highest troop-carrying records are those of July, 1918, when 306,000 soldiers were carried to Europe and May, 1919, when 330,000 were brought home to America.

Most of the troops who sailed for France left from New York. Half of them landed in England and the other half landed in France.

Among every 100 Americans who went over 49 went in British ships, 45 in American ships, 3 in Italian 2 in French and 1 in Russian shipping under English control.

Our cargo ships averaged one complete trip every 70 days and our troop ships one complete trip every 35 days.

The cargo fleet was almost exclusively American. It reached the size of 2,600,000 deadweight tons and carried to Europe about 7,500,000 tons of cargo.

The greatest troop-carrier among all the ships has been the Leviathan, which landed 12,000 men, or the equivalent of a German division, in France every month.

The fastest transports have been the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific, which have made complete turnarounds, taken on new troops, and started back again in 19 days.

No such troop movement as that of the summer of 1918 had ever been contemplated, and no movement of any such number of persons by water had ever previously occurred. The record has been excelled only by the achievement in bringing the same men back to the shores of the United States. The total number of men brought home in May, 1919, was nearly 330,000.

Troops left America from ten ports, four of them Canadian, in the following numbers: Quebec, 11,000; Montreal, 34,000; Halifax, 5,000; St. Johns, 1,000; Portland, 6,000; Boston, 46,000; New York (including Hoboken and Brooklyn), 1,656,000; Philadelphia, 35,000; Baltimore, 4,000, and Norfolk (including Hampton Roads), 288,000. More than three-quarters of all the men went from New York.

Half of the troops landed in England and the other half in France. Most of those who landed in England went directly to Liverpool and most of those who landed in France went to Brest. The statistics of landings at the various European ports are as follows: Glasgow, 45,000; Manchester, 4,000; Liverpool, 844,000; Bristol Ports, 11,000; Plymouth, 1,000; Falmouth, 1,000; Southampton, 57,000; London, 62,000; LeHavre, 13,000; Brest, 791,000; St. Nazaire, 189,000; La Pallice, 4,000; Bordeaux, 50,000, and Marseilles, 1,000. To Italy went 2,000 American troops.

THE PROBLEM OF BUYING

In the spring of 1917 there were in the United States some 4,000,000 young men who were about to become soldiers, although they little suspected the fact. Before they entered the Army, as well as after they were in it, these men consumed such ordinary necessities of life as food, coats, trousers, socks, shoes and blankets.

These simple facts lead directly to the mistaken conclusion that the problem of supplying the necessities of life for the soldiers in the Army was the comparatively simple one of diverting into the camps substantially the same amounts of food and clothing as these young men would have used in their homes if there had been no war.

These men constituted about one twenty-fifth of the population of the country and undoubtedly consumed before the war more than one twenty-fifth of the food and clothing used in the United States. But after every possible allowance has been made for the requirements of youth and the wastefulness of war, the figures of Army purchases still present surprising contrasts with those of civilian use in normal times.

DISTRIBUTION OF SUPPLIES

Distributing supplies to the American forces in France was in the first place a problem of ports, second a problem of railroads, third a problem of motor and horse-drawn transportation, and a fourth a problem of storage.

The ports and railroads of France were crowded with war traffic and fallen into disrepair. It was not necessary to build new ports, but American engineers added 83 new berths, together with warehouses and dock equipment. It was not necessary to build new railroads, for France already had a railway net denser per square mile than that of the United States, but it was desirable to increase the carrying capacity by nearly 1,000 miles of new trackage, and by switching facilities at crucial points, by new repair shops and roundhouses, and by new rolling stock.

These things were done by the Engineers. The problems were not wholly solved. There were never enough docks to prevent some loss of time by vessels waiting to dock, but the capacity for handling American cargo was tripled from 10,000 tons per day in the spring of 1918 to 30,000 tons by November 11 and the waiting time of ships was shorter than in commercial practice. There were never wholly adequate railway facilities, but with the help of locomotives and freight cars shipped from this side freight was carried inland about as fast as it was landed.

In order to operate the transportation of supplies in France, a new system of communication had to be set up; so the Signal Corps strung its wires over nearly every part of France.

FOOD AND CLOTHING AT THE FRONT

The real test of the efficiency of the supply service comes when an army engages in battle. Measured by that test the work of feeding, clothing, and equipping the American Army was well done for, in the main, the expeditionary forces received what they needed. Within the limits of this report no account can be given in detail of how fully the supplies received overseas met the needs of the troops. A few typical and fundamentally important items only can be selected. Food and clothing are the most essential.

At no time was there a shortage of food in the Expeditionary forces. Soldiers sometimes went hungry in this as in all other wars, but the condition was local and temporary. It occurred because of transportation difficulties during periods of active fighting or rapid movement when the units outran their rolling kitchens. The stock of food on hand in depots in France was always adequate.

In the matter of clothing also, the supply services rose to the emergency of combat. There were periods in the history of many individual units when needed supplies could not be immediately obtained but, as in the case of food, the difficulty was one of local transportation.

The records of the Quartermaster show that during the six months of hard fighting, from June to November, the enlisted man in the A. E. F. received on the average:

Slicker and overcoat, every 5 months.

Blanket, flannel shirt, and breeches, every two months.

Coat, every 79 days.

Shoes and puttees, every 51 days.

Drawers and undershirt, every 34 days.

Woolen socks, every 23 days.

REQUIREMENTS GREAT

The problems of feeding and clothing the Army were difficult because of the immense quantities involved rather than because of the difficulty of manufacturing the articles needed.

Requirements for some kinds of clothing for the Army were more than twice as great as the prewar total American production of the same articles.

To secure the articles needed for the Army the Government had to commandeer all the wool and some other staple articles in the United States and control production through all its stages.

The distribution of supplies in the Expeditionary Forces required the creation of an organization called the Services of Supply, to which one-fourth of all the troops who went overseas were assigned.

American Engineers built in France 83 new ship berths, 1,000 miles of standard-gauge track, and 538 miles of narrow-gauge track.

The Signal Corps strung in France 100,000 miles of telephone and telegraph wire.

Prior to the armistice 40,000 trucks were shipped to the forces in France.

Construction projects in the United States cost twice as much as the Panama Canal, and construction overseas was on nearly as large a scale.

PNEUMONIA DEADLIER THAN BATTLE

The American battle losses were 48,909 killed and 236,000 wounded. Of every 100 American soldiers and sailors who took part in the war with Germany, two were killed or died of disease during the period of hostilities. Russia's losses were 35 times as great; Germany's 32 times as great; France's 28 times and England's 18 times.

The pneumonia-influenza epidemic killed more American soldiers than were slain in battle; this plague caused 83.6 per cent of all the deaths from disease, claiming more than 40,000 victims, mostly in the United States, although thousands died in France.

In the entire American army, both in France and in this country, there occurred 112,432 deaths in battle and from disease. Of these, 48,909, or 43 per cent, were battle deaths, while 56,991, or 51 per cent, were due to disease. To other causes, including accident, were due 6,522 deaths, or 6 per cent.

The war was undoubtedly the bloodiest that has ever been fought. From 1793 to 1914 (including the Napoleonic era) total deaths in war may be safely estimated at under 6,000,000. Battle deaths alone from 1914 to 1918 totaled about 7,450,000.

In the American army the casualty rate in the infantry was higher than in any service, the air force and the tank corps ranking second and third in deadliness. The casualty rate for officers was higher than for men, because all flyers were commissioned men.

For every man killed in action seven were wounded. Five out of every six men sent to hospitals for wounds were cured and returned to duty. In the expeditionary forces battle losses were twice as large as deaths from disease. In this war the death rate from disease was lower and the death rate from battle was higher than in any previous American war.

HOW AVIATION SERVICE GREW

When war was declared the United States had two aviation fields and 55 serviceable airplanes. The National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics advised that 51 of these were obsolete and the other four obsolescent.

Before the end of the war the Allies furnished us with 3,800 service planes.

Aviation training schools in the United States graduated 8,602 men from elementary and 4,028 from advanced courses. The total personnel of the air service increased from 1,200 at the outbreak of the war to nearly 200,000 at its close. More than 5,000 pilots and observers were sent overseas.

The first flyers wearing the American uniform were members of the Lafayette Escadrille, who were transferred to the American service in December, 1917. The American air force at the front grew from 3 squadrons in April, 1918, to 45 squadrons in November. On November 11, the 45 squadrons had an equipment of 740 planes.

American air squadrons played important roles in the battles of Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne. They brought down in combat 755 enemy planes, while their own losses of planes numbered only 357.

TRACTORS AND TANKS

An innovation in this war, development of which in the future promises to be even more important, was the increased use of motor transportation. As applied to the artillery, this meant the use of caterpillar tractors to haul the big guns, especially over rough ground. When we entered the war no suitable designs existed for caterpillar tractors of size appropriate for the medium heavy artillery. But new 5-ton and 10-ton types were perfected in this country, put into production, and 1,100 shipped overseas before November 1. About 300 larger tractors were also shipped and 350 more secured from the French and British. The tank was an even more important application of the caterpillar tractor to war uses.

The efforts of this country in the case of heavy 30-ton tanks were concentrated on a co-operative plan, by which this country was to furnish Liberty motors and the rest of the driving mechanism, and the British the armor plate for 1,500 tanks for the 1919 campaign. It has been estimated that about one-half the work on the American components for this project had been completed before November 11, and the work of assembly of the initial units was well under way. For immediate use in France, this country received 64 heavy tanks from the British.

STRIKING INVENTIONS THAT HELPED WIN THE WAR

Few facilities and little experience existed at the beginning of the war for the development of many of the delicate instruments and intricate mechanisms required in the equipment of service planes. Intensive research brought some notable results, of which several deserve especial mention. These are:

The oxygen mask, equipped with telephone connections which enabled the flyer to endure the rarified air at an altitude which his plane could reach without losing speaking contact with his companions.

The military parachute, which was developed to unprecedented safety. This was used principally for escape from burning balloons, and was improved so that it would bring down safely the entire balloon basket with its load. During the entire war there was not an American casualty due to parachute failure.

The electric-heated clothing for aviators on high altitude work. The electric suit, developed in the latter months of the war and used at the front, was lined with insulated coils through which current was driven by means of a small dynamo actuated by a miniature propeller driven by the rush of the plane through the air.

Long-focus, light-filtration cameras by which good photographs could be taken through haze from altitudes of 3 miles or more. Primary credit for this belongs to Europe, but America improved the mechanism and standardized the design for quantity production.

The wireless telephone, by which the aviator is able to converse easily with other planes and with ground stations. This development came too late to be of any substantial use at the front, but its value for peace as well as for any future war is obvious.

Two Hundred Days of Battle

TWO OUT OF THREE

Two out of every three American soldiers who reached France took part in battle. The number who reached France was 2,084,000, and of these 1,390,000 saw active service in the front line.

American combat forces were organized into divisions, which, as has been noted, consisted of some 28,000 officers and men. These divisions were the largest on the western front, since the British division numbered about 15,000 and those of the French and German about 12,000 each. There were sent overseas 42 American divisions and several hundred thousand supplementary artillery and service of supply troops.

Of the 42 divisions that reached France 29 took part in active combat service, while the others were used for replacements or were just arriving during the last month of hostilities. The battle record of the United States Army in this war is largely the history of these 29 combat divisions. Seven of them were Regular Army divisions, 11 were organized from the National Guard, and 11 were made up of National Army troops.

American combat divisions were in battle for 200 days, from the 25th of April, 1918, when the first Regular division after long training in quiet sectors, entered an active sector on the Picardy front, until the signing of the armistice. During these 200 days they were engaged in 13 major operations, of which 11 were joint enterprises with the French, British, and Italians, and 2 were distinctively American.

At the time of their greatest activity in the second week of October all 29 American divisions were in action. They then held 101 miles of front, or 23 per cent of the entire allied battle line. From the middle of August until the end of the war they held, during the greater part of the time, a front longer than that held by the British. Their strength tipped the balance of man power in favor of the Allies, so that from the middle of June, 1918, to the end of the war the allied forces were superior in number to those of the enemy.

The total battle advances of all the American divisions amounted to 782 kilometers, or 485 miles, an average advance for each division of 17 miles, nearly all of it against desperate enemy resistance. They captured 63,000 prisoners, 1,378 pieces of artillery, 708 trench mortars, and 9,650 machine guns. In June and July they helped to shatter the enemy advance toward Paris and to turn retreat into a triumphant offensive. At St. Mihiel they pinched off in a day an enemy salient which had been a constant menace to the French line for four years. In the Argonne and on the Meuse they carried lines which the enemy was determined to hold at any cost, and cut the enemy lines of communication and supply for half the western battle front.

ON EVERY STRETCH OF WESTERN FRONT

American troops saw service on practically every stretch of the western front from British lines in Belgium to inactive sectors in the Vosges. On Oct. 21, 1917, Americans entered the line in the quiet Toul sector. From that date to the armistice American units were somewhere in line almost continuously.

With the organization of the American First Army on August 10, under the personal command of Gen. Pershing, the history of the American Expeditionary Forces entered upon a new stage. The St. Mihiel (September 12-16) and Meuse-Argonne (September 26-November 11) offensives were major operations planned and executed by American generals and American troops.

In addition to the operations above mentioned, American troops participated in the Battle of Vittorio-Veneto (October 24 to November 4), which ended in the rout of the Austrian Army.

THE BATTLE OF ST. MIHIEL

The first distinctly American offensive was the reduction of the St. Mihiel salient carried through from September 12 to September 15, largely by American troops and wholly under the orders of the American commander-in-chief.

In the attack the American troops were aided by French colonial troops. The Americans were also aided by French and British air squadrons.

The attack began at 5. a. m., after four hours of artillery preparation of great severity, and met with immediate success. Before noon about half the distance between the bases of the salient had been covered and the next morning troops of the First and Twenty-sixth Divisions met at Vigneulles, cutting off the salient within 24 hours from the beginning of the movement.

Two comparisons between this operation and the Battle of Gettysburg emphasize the magnitude of the action. About 550,000 Americans were engaged at St. Mihiel; the Union forces at Gettysburg numbered approximately 100,000. St. Mihiel set a record for concentration of artillery fire by a four-hour artillery preparation, consuming more than 1,000,000 rounds of ammunition. In three days at Gettysburg Union artillery fired 33,000 rounds.

The St. Mihiel offensive cost only about 7,000 casualties, less than one-third the Union losses at Gettysburg. There were captured 16,000 prisoners and 443 guns. A dangerous enemy salient was reduced, and American commanders and troops demonstrated their ability to plan and execute a big American operation.

THE BATTLE OF THE MEUSE-ARGONNE

The object of the Meuse-Argonne offensive, said Gen. Pershing in his report of November 20, 1918, was "to draw the best German divisions to our front and to consume them." This sentence expresses better than any long description not only the object but also the outcome of the battle. Every available American division was thrown against the enemy. Every available German division was thrown in to meet them. At the end of 47 days of continuous battle our divisions had consumed the German divisions.

The goal of the American attack was the Sedan-Mezieres railroad, the main line of supply for the German forces on the major part of the western front. If this line were cut, a retirement on the whole front would be forced. This retirement would include, moreover, evacuation of the Briey iron fields, which the Germans had been using to great advantage to supplement their iron supply. The defense of the positions threatened was therefore of such importance as to warrant the most desperate measures for resistance. When the engagement was evidently impending the commander of the German Fifth Army sent word to his forces, calling on them for unyielding resistance and pointing out that defeat in this engagement might mean disaster for the fatherland.

On the first day, the 26th of September, and the next day or two after that, the lines were considerably advanced. Then the resistance became more stubborn. Each side threw in more and more of its man power until there were no more reserves. Many German divisions went into action twice, and not a few three times, until, through losses, they were far under strength. All through the month of October the attrition went on. Foot by foot American troops pushed back the best of the German divisions. On November 1 the last stage of the offensive began. The enemy power began to break. American troops forced their way to the east bank of the Meuse. Toward the north they made even more rapid progress, and in seven days reached the outskirts of Sedan and cut the Sedan-Mezieres railroad, making the German line untenable.

In the meantime (October 2 to 28) our Second and Thirty-sixth Divisions had been sent west to assist the French who were advancing in Champagne beside our drive in the Argonne. The liaison detachment between the two armies was for a time furnished by the Ninety-second Division.

RESEMBLED BATTLE OF THE WILDERNESS

In some ways the Meuse-Argonne offers an interesting resemblance to the Battle of the Wilderness, fought from May 5 to 12, 1864, in the Civil War. Both were fought over a terrain covered with tangled woods and underbrush. The Wilderness was regarded as a long battle, marked by slow progress, against obstinate resistance, with very heavy casualties. Here the similarity ends. The Meuse-Argonne lasted six times as long as the Battle of the Wilderness. Twelve times as many American troops were engaged as were on the Union side. They used in the action ten times as many guns and fired about one hundred times as many rounds of artillery ammunition. The actual weight of the ammunition fired was greater than that used by the Union forces during the entire Civil War. Casualties were perhaps four times as heavy as among the Northern Troops in the Battle of the Wilderness.

THE BATTLE OF THE MEUSE-ARGONNE WAS BEYOND COMPARE THE GREATEST EVER FOUGHT BY AMERICAN TROOPS, AND THERE HAVE BEEN FEW, IF ANY, GREATER BATTLES IN THE HISTORY OF THE WORLD. SOME OF THE MORE IMPORTANT STATISTICS OF THE ENGAGEMENT ARE PRESENTED HERE:

STAGGERING STATISTICS

Of every 100 American soldiers and sailors, who served in the war with Germany, two were killed or died of disease during the period of hostilities.

The total battle deaths of all nations in this war were greater than all the deaths in all the wars in the previous 100 years.

Russian battle deaths were 34 times as heavy as those of the United States, those of Germany 32 times as great, the French 28 times, and the British 18 times as large.

The number of American lives lost was 122,500, of which about 10,000 were in the Navy, and the rest in the Army and the marines attached to it.

In the American Army the casualty rate in the Infantry was higher than in any other service, and that for officers was higher than for men.

For every man killed in battle seven were wounded.

Five out of every six men sent to hospitals on account of wounds were cured and returned to duty.

In the expeditionary forces battle losses were twice as large as deaths from disease.

In this war the death rate from disease was lower, and the death rate from battle was higher than in any other previous American war.

Inoculation, clean camps, and safe drinking water, practically eliminated typhoid fever among our troops in this war.

Pneumonia killed more soldiers than were killed in battle. Meningitis was the next most serious disease.

During the entire war available hospital facilities in the American Expeditionary Forces have been in excess of the needs.

A MILLION DOLLARS AN HOUR

The total direct costs of the war amount to about $186,000,000,000, of which the United States expended approximately $22,000,000,000.

Germany, with $39,000,000,000, spent more than any other country; Great Britain is a close second, with $38,000,000,000; France is third, with $26,000,000,000, and the United States fourth. This country spent about one-eighth of the entire cost of the war, and something less than one-fifth of the expenditures of the allied side.

The war cost the United States something more than $1,000,000 an hour for over two years.

The total cost to the United States was nearly enough to pay the entire cost of running the Government from 1791 up to the outbreak of the European War.

Our expenditures in this war were sufficient to have carried on the Revolutionary War continuously for more than 1,000 years, at the rate of expenditure which that war actually involved.

In addition to this huge expenditure, nearly $10,000,000,000 have been loaned by the United States to the Allies.

The army expenditures have been over $14,000,000,000 or nearly two-thirds of our total war costs.

BATTLE DEATHS IN HISTORY'S BLOODIEST WAR

Statistics compiled by the War Department show that in four years of the war there were nearly a million and a half more men killed in battle than lost their lives in all the wars from 1793 to 1914. The United States stands twelfth on the list, our losses being less than half those of Bulgaria. The table follows:

"And I want to say, in closing, if anything should happen to me, let's have no mourning in spirit or in dress. Like a Liberty Bond, it is an investment, not a loss, when a man dies for his country. It is an honor to his family, and is that a time for weeping? I would rather leave my family rich in pleasant memories of my life than numbed in sorrow at my death."—Extract from a letter from Lieutenant Ely, of Winnetka, who was killed in the Toul sector in France, April 21, 1918.

ARMY

"Company A" 122d Machine Gun Battalion

When "Old Company E" 5th Infantry Illinois National Guard, composed of men of Hillsboro and vicinity, was mustered into the Federal Service it became a part of "Company A," 122d Machine Gun Battalion. This was a Divisional Machine Gun Battalion and was the only motorized fighting unit in the 33d Division.

Company A was commanded by Captain L. A. Tuggle from the time it left Hillsboro until after it reached France sixteen months later.

On the street, during hostilities, whenever "Company A" was mentioned it proved a magnet which drew a crowd around the speaker, listeners eager for every bit of information about the welfare of the company on whose activities the eyes of the community were centered.

Wherever the 122d, 123d or 124th battalions went, they were accompanied by many Montgomery County boys with the Medical Detachments. Many of these boys formerly served in the Hospital Corps of the 5th Inf. Ill. N. G.

They all made names for themselves in the military annals of history.

After nearly two years' absence from home, a year of which was spent in foreign lands, the boys returned—much of their boyishness gone and in its place the determination of manhood—a manhood crowned with victory and success bought at the expense of precious lives of comrades and battle scars obtained in some of the fiercest fighting of the World War.

Montgomery County Chapter American Red Cross

Early in June, 1917, Mrs. Rice Miller circulated a petition for authority to organize the Montgomery County Chapter of the American Red Cross, and secured the following charter members: Amos Miller, Charles A. Ramsey, Frank H. Brown, F. L. McDavid, H. A. Douglas, Rice Miller, Dr. Z. V. Kimball, Christine S. Dorsey, H. M. Dorsey, Martha J. Evans, Clinton B. Bliss, Winifred W. Miller, Hattie B. On June 18, 1917, a meeting was held to complete the organization. Frank H. Brown was chosen temporary chairman and Albert Evans temporary Secretary. The chairman appointed a committee to nominate officers for the County Chapter, and the meeting adjourned to June 21, 1917, when the committee reported the following nominations: For Chairman, Judge Amos Miller; Vice-Chairman, Homer S. Butler; Secretary, Miss Ottie Gannon; Treasurer, F. L. McDavid. They were unanimously elected. Branches of the Montgomery County Chapter were then organized throughout the county, until today the Montgomery County Chapter is composed of twenty branches with a membership of 14,328 adults, and 11,000 juniors. This does not include the City of Litchfield, as Litchfield organized under separate charter and is not a part of the Montgomery County Chapter.

Our report for the year ending November 20, 1918, shows a membership of 14,328, not including 11,000 Juniors, and shows the amount of money received during the year by the Montgomery County Chapter to be $31,777.97. This does not include any part of the Second Red Cross War Fund Drive. In this drive Montgomery County's quota was $20,000. We voluntarily raised this to $25,000, Litchfield took $5,000 and Montgomery County Chapter $20,000. We over-subscribed this amount and Montgomery County Chapter remitted to National Headquarters $21,150.

The Montgomery County Chapter expended for yarn and other materials used in making hospital garments, refugee clothing, etc., $15,040.28. In February, 1918, the Junior Red Cross was organized with some five or six thousand members and we found the children among our most enthusiastic workers. We had the hearty co-operation of teachers and parents also, which made the Junior work a pleasure all the way through.

In August, 1918, the Civilian Relief or Home Service Department was organized, and from that time on, this has been perhaps the most active part of the Red Cross work, and will continue to be such until the last soldier is home with his loved ones, the last information possible obtained as to those who have gone "Over the Top" and are not coming back.

When viewed as a whole, the work accomplished by our Chapter is almost beyond belief, and it was made possible only by everybody doing his "bit." There have been many faithful ones this year who have neglected their own work and their homes, that the Red Cross work might be completed on time. We want our boys, when they come back to us, to know that we too have not been idle, but that we have stood behind them like a solid wall, doing our best to help in every way we could, and I think all the members of the Montgomery County Chapter have a right to be proud and thankful for what has been accomplished, and I know we are each truly grateful for the privilege of helping "just a little." Now that the war is over we hope to keep alive always the Montgomery County Chapter of the American Red Cross, and to be always ready for any emergency that may arise or any service that may be needed.

September 1919 finds the Home Service department the most active branch of the work. This department is doing a great deal toward helping the boys who come home, get their allotments, back pay, liberty bonds, and most of all—looking after their insurance for them.

OTTIE GANNON, Secretary.

Litchfield Chapter American Red Cross

Answering the call sent out from National Headquarters American Red Cross early in April, 1917, Mrs. John A. Henley and Mrs. Hugh A. Snell promptly secured the names of eleven prominent people necessary to petition for a Charter to organize LITCHFIELD CHAPTER AMERICAN RED CROSS.

A meeting was held April 27, 1917, at which time a Committee on Organization, composed of C. E. Morgan, J. A. Pappmeier, H. A. Snell, E. E. Burson, Eli Miller, Grace Cratty, Dr. H. F. Bennett, Mabel Beeman, J. A. Henley and H. B. Herrick, was appointed and a permanent organization perfected by the election of officers and the adoption of by-laws.

ROUSING MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

Membership Campaign Committee was appointed consisting of one from each church, each lodge, each labor organization and various business firms, railroad offices, etc.

A Membership Campaign opened May 26th and closed June 5, 1917. A recruiting tent was erected in Library Square, music furnished and a whole-hearted enthusiastic response on the part of the people brought in 1,224 members.

THE MODESTO-MATTOON-CHARLESTON TORNADO

When a terrific tornado struck our sister cities of Modesto, Mattoon and Charleston May 26th, and wrought such direful damage, the Litchfield Chapter R. C. quickly demonstrated its usefulness. Two members, J. A. Henley and J. C. Strehle, were sent to Mattoon to report upon conditions and needs of the people. H. A. Snell was appointed Chairman of Food Committee, Grace Cratty Chairman of Nurses' Committee, C. E. Morgan Chairman of Finance Committee, each to select his own Committee, to answer this appeal. Two hundred eighty-one dollars and thirty cents in cash raised. Bread, hams, and hard-boiled eggs, also $125.00 cash went to each town and the remainder of cash went to Modesto.

THE MEETING OF JUNE 13, 1917

At this meeting a Committee on Red Cross Instruction was appointed. It was composed of the following:

RED CROSS WORK ROOMS OPENED

In July, 1917, the Red Cross Work Rooms opened under the direction of Mrs. Albert R. Trapp of Springfield, Ill., and two days a week were given over to instruction:

December 12, 1917, J. A. Pappmeier was appointed Vice-chairman to succeed Dr. H. C. Bennett who had been called into service. In April, 1918, three new members, namely, Mrs. G. W. Fisher, Mrs. Joseph C. Strehle and Miss Mabel Morgan, were added to the Board of Directors. H. A. Snell was appointed Chairman of the War Fund Drive.

The plan for this drive contemplated that each citizen should give one day's income out of every month for the duration of the war. Each city ward was divided into districts, each district into blocks and a worker was appointed for each block. These pledges were discontinued Jan. 1, 1919.

CIVILIAN RELIEF OR HOME SERVICE WORK

This department was headed by Judge Paul McWilliams and was a very busy department from the date of its organization. There were calls without number for assistance from the mothers, wives, brothers and sisters of those in the service regarding allotments, insurance and lost relatives.

BELGIAN RELIEF

There were two Belgian Relief Drives. Miss Gladys Cline was Chairman of the first and Mrs. Albert R. Stansifer of the second.

Both met with unqualified success.

The local Chapter had one War Fund assessment of $5,000 which was paid in full.

The present membership of Litchfield Chapter, July 16, 1919, is 2,811.

HOME ACTIVITIES

Harvel Branch American Red Cross

The Harvel Branch was organized July 13, 1917, with the following officers in charge:

Christina Meglitsch	Chairman
E. W. Bockewitz	Vice-Chairman
Violet Bockewitz	Secretary
Arthur Zimmerman	Treasurer

In the fall of 1917, Violet Bockewitz resigned and Alice Dudenhoffer was elected Secretary and served until July, 1918. During the first few months 121 members subscribed, but early in the spring of 1918 a drive was made and Harvel was made a 100% town with approximately 525 members.

On August 9, 1917, the workers' auxiliary was organized with Christina Meglitsch as Chairman and Instructor; Mrs. Della Bockewitz, Vice-chairman; Ruth Smith, Secretary, and Martha Weber, Chairman of the knitting. Later Mrs. Sarah Grey was made Chairman of the knitting. The few workers were always present and ready to do. Our work consisted of pajama suits, surgical coats, Belgian garments and knitted articles. We met twice each week and the following number of garments were made: 63 pajama suits, 106 surgical coats, 45 Belgian suits, 12 pairs wristlets, 85 sweaters, 40 pairs socks, 5 scarfs, beside the work done by the Juniors.

The people of the community gave freely and there was always plenty of money in the treasury. Approximately $2,427.16 was taken in and $529.99 paid out up to and including the January drive of 1919. In December, 1918, the following officers were elected and are now serving:

E. W. Bockewitz	Chairman
J. A. Huber	Vice-Chairman
Ruth Smith	Treasurer
Christina Meglitsch	Secretary
Christina Meglitsch	Chairman Home Service
Martha Weber	Vice-Chairman Home Service
E. W. Bockewitz	Chairman Civilian Relief

Our Chapter has adopted 5 French orphans for the year of 1919.

CHRISTINA MEGLITSCH
Secretary.

Hillsboro Branch American Red Cross

The Hillsboro Branch of the Red Cross was organized July 14th, 1917, with the following officers:

Mrs. A. M. Howell	Chairman
Miss Aldine Frey	Vice-Chairman
Miss Carrie Latham	Secretary and Treasurer

Mrs. Rice Miller was appointed Chairman of the Surgical Dressing Department; Mrs. H. M. Dorsey of the Sewing; Mrs. M. J. McMurray of the Purchasing; Mrs. W. W. Douglas of the Cutting; Mrs. J. P. Brown of the Knitting. These women, with many willing assistants, commenced war work in earnest. On September 10th, Mrs. T. S. Evans was made Secretary and Treasurer in place of Miss Latham, who went on the Exemption Board at that time.

Money was always coming into the Branch from various sources and many entertainments were given for the raising of funds by the women interested in the cause.

October 23rd, 1917, officers were re-elected, except that Mrs. Frank Helston was made Vice-President. These officers continued the work until the closing of the workshop. It is impossible to give the amount of work done by the Hillsboro Branch for the reason that all work done in the County, except Litchfield, was shipped here, inspected, repacked and shipped on to Chicago, and no record kept of what was done in this Branch alone, but of the shipments of the entire County, except Litchfield, valuation placed upon the boxes by the packing committee, was about $7,000.00, exclusive of the knitting, which was more than that.

The Hillsboro Branch never once failed to do what Headquarters asked of it,—doing the work in a true American spirit. During the epidemic of Influenza, the Red Cross cared for the sick for a time with a visiting nurse. When it became too much for the care of one nurse, an emergency hospital was opened in rooms donated by the Moose Club and many sick were cared for and doubtless many lives saved. We have done for our boys all that we could, as they have done for us, all that they could.

The following were among the most active workers in our chapter:

- | | |
|--|---|
| Frank H. Brown, Chairman of County Chapter R. C. | Mrs. F. J. Riechert, Served at Red Cross Rooms. |
| Miss Oattie Gannon, Secretary of Montgomery County Chapter R. C.; Secretary of Civilian Relief and Secretary Junior Red Cross. | Mrs. A. F. Banfield, Home Service Dept. Collected records of Soldiers. Served at Red Cross Rooms. |

Raymond Branch, Montgomery County

Chapter American Red Cross

When the first of our boys marched away, they determined upon their course in no moment of thoughtless enthusiasm or youthful irresponsibility. The people of Raymond wanted these boys to know we were constantly thinking of them. The first Red Cross work done in Raymond was started by Mrs. N. E. Doyle and Mrs. Mary Molohon, who made Comfort Kits, which would be a reminder of our love and affection, to aid the boys and strengthen them while away from the comforts of home. Mrs. Clara Doyle was particularly active and devoted in keeping alive the Red Cross organization and will ever be gratefully remembered.

After the organization of the Red Cross, the Modern Woodmen donated the use of their hall, which was deeply appreciated. Loyal men and women helped in many ways. The Household Science Club voted one day to the Red Cross and was 100%. The Secretary, Miss Mabel McGown, and Miss Frances Bowsher sold 100% War Savings Stamps to club members. Three of our boys who offered their services and were rejected were George Peck, Floyd Guthrie and Clyde Thomas. Three service flags, one in the Presbyterian, one in the Methodist and one in St. Raymond's Church, tell the story of the Blue Star turned to Gold.

JUNIORS ALSO ACTIVE

Raymond School was 100% in Junior Red Cross as well as Red Cross. Mrs. Ida Peck, who teaches room number four, had charge of the Juniors and her enthusiastic room knit squares for comforts. The primary, too, was well represented and many merry little hands worked patiently on gun-wipers to send our boys overseas. Others spurred on by our Mrs. Peck's patient and untiring efforts, helped in many ways so that the work will live long in the minds and hearts of the beneficiaries.

Raymond has need to be proud of her sons and of the loyal men and women at home who helped them by Home Service Work.

I regret that photographs were not to be had of the following Raymondites who were engaged in various war activities and no book would be complete without mention of them:

Mrs. Clara Doyle, Chairman

Fillmore Branch American Red Cross

When the call to war came, our best youth massed itself under the national standard and went singing across the sea, to meet on foreign shores that peril which had reached out its fist and shaken it in the face of our country. We sought out the enemy there, 3000 miles away, because those 3000 miles were as zero in the scheme of things suddenly hurled upon the world by a greed-maddened despotism. So the miles of sea and the miles of land were not half so real as the shout of victory of one soldier, or the dying agony of one home boy swallowed up in the maw of war.

Fillmore Township, ever ready to do her part, and then some, responded quickly to the call for volunteers to "fight behind the lines," and the following solicitors for membership got busy and rolled up a handsome charter list for the American Red Cross Branch: Mesdames L. E. Killion, E. C. Wolcott, Anna Wright, F. G. Miller, John Smithdeal, N. B. Allen, Mollie Wright, Miss Chloe Ivy and Dr. V. A. Bost.

Throughout the war the Fillmore Branch was a veritable "hive of industry." In addition to the officers and members shown in the Pictorial record of this book, were the Secretary-Treasurer, Jesse Hill Cress, and the following important Committee members and workers:

The Four-Minute Men of Montgomery

The Four-Minute Men of the World War derived their name from the Minute men of Revolutionary times who were armed citizens pledged to take the field at a moment's notice during and immediately previous to the War of Independence.

The Four-Minute Men of the World War, although not an armed force, endeavored to model their patriotism after their prototypes of the Revolution.

As the revolutionary hero and minute man, Paul Revere, carried the message of "to arms! to arms!" to his comrades that they might defend their lives, rights and liberty, so the Four-Minute Men of the World War carried to their countrymen the messages of Liberty and Defense.

No county had a better right to feel proud of its Four-Minute men organization than Montgomery.

Especially efficient was the Litchfield Branch, under the Chairmanship of Judge of the City Court, Harry C. Stuttle.

In every effort the Litchfield Four-Minute Men were found doing their part. They aided in all Loan Drives, the organization of the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., the raising of funds for these organizations and the K. of C., Salvation Army and United War Relief Work.

The Four-Minute Men were principally used by the war organization for publicity work, spreading broadcast to the people the needs in war work, maintaining morale and fanning to red heat the spirit of patriotism.

The means employed by the Four-Minute Men to carry out their instructions was that of speaking in public places of all description—in churches, schools, theatres, moving picture shows, at carnivals, circuses, at fairs and picnics, anywhere and everywhere where people were found gathered together.

As their name implies, the Four-Minute Men limited their speeches to a period of four minutes each. The government has said that among all the forces that aided in the winning of the war, the Four Minute-Men were not among the least important.

The Four-Minute Men of Litchfield were:

War Savings and Thrift Stamps

And the government said it is well that the people be thrifty, that they eliminate waste and use only things that are essential for their well being, and that the savings occasioned by their thrift be loaned to the government.

So Congress passed an act authorizing that a loan of $2,000,000,000 be issued to be known as the "War Savings Loan" and thus this loan became a part of the financial program of the United States Treasury, and wage earners and small investors could loan the government even so small an amount as 25 cents.

In order to eliminate the intricacies of the Liberty Loan issues, investors exchanged their coin and currency for Thrift Stamps valued at 25 cents each. These Thrift Stamps were accumulated and exchanged for War Savings Stamps, having a par value at maturity of $5.00 and these obligations of the government acquired the nickname of "Baby Bonds."

The already heavily burdened Treasury Department was relieved of a great deal of the work of selling these stamps by the Postal Department, who in turn were assisted by many agencies. Thus, the postal employees, being in close touch with almost every inhabitant of the nation, gave easy and frequent opportunity for the exchange of small sums for Thrift and War Savings Stamps.

As a part of the organization of the State of Illinois, Postmaster Hugh Hall, of Litchfield, was appointed as Chairman of Montgomery County, and under his direction each postmaster in the county was placed in charge of the postal district of his office. These local chairmen brought to their aid such agencies as they found fit and Montgomery County was soon placed near the front rank of the many counties of the state and its quota of $771,520 was obtained sometime before the year 1918 came to its end.

Naturally, Chairman Hall made his greatest endeavors in his postal district and organized the work by naming sub-chairmen for various activities.

Attorney H. L. Jackson had charge of the public speakers; Carrier P. M. Cox was Chairman of the Maximum Club, which attained a large membership; Clerk A. L. Henderson carried the work to the religious and civic societies; Carrier W. H. Barton assisted the teachers of the public schools in forming "War Savings Societies;" Clerk E. C. Thorp became cashier and Clerks Ardella Warren, Joseph Knierly assistant cashiers and salesmen. Every employee of the Litchfield Post-Office became an active worker and educated the public regarding the merits of the Thrift Stamp and War Savings Loan.

Rural carriers Alfred Neal, Fred Blankley, Robert Jordan, Jr., and Herbert Plopper and city carriers W. H. Barton, August Tiemann, Perley M. Cox, John Kaburick and John T. Moss and substitute carrier Charles M. Morris sold many Thrift and War Savings Stamps to patrons on their routes and clerks Bertha A. Thorp, Ardella Warren, E. G. Thorp, A. L. Henderson and W. W. Rainey were not less interested in the campaign which put the local postal district in the lead in the county.

March 28, 1918, was appointed as a special day of the campaign and the citizens were requested to prepare their investments and savings and the sales that day amounted to $22,-492.48.

On "Pledge Week" in June, the Woman's Club delegated members who made a house-to-house canvass and thus many people pledged that they would buy Thrift Stamps in various amounts at different times. The local retail stores and many factories became sub-agencies and together with the banks made it convenient for many wage earners to exchange their coin for stamps. Thus Litchfield, with every other postal district in Montgomery County, became an integral part of the War Savings plan as devised by the Treasury Department.

Montgomery County went "Over the Top" on the Liberty Loans

Montgomery County people can point with pride to the manner in which Montgomery responded to the government's call for financial support.

On the five Liberty Bond issues, Montgomery County subscribed for $1,118,190 more than was asked of her. She took more than her quota on every loan but the first, this being due to the fact that the people were not sufficiently awake to their duties. On the second loan, however, she more than made up her deficiency on the first, and held the lead until the finish.

She even surprised herself on the Fourth loan, taking nearly $1,800,000 bonds. Montgomery's total subscriptions on the five loans amounted to $5,614,150.

Below is given the quota assigned to Montgomery on each loan, and her subscriptions thereto:

Loan Number	Quota	Subscriptions
First	$ 441,510	$ 319,100
Second	585,000	840,950
Third	701,500	1,318,600
Fourth	1,565,000	1,798,650
Fifth	1,202,950	1,336,850
	$4,495,960	$5,614,150

Women's Relief Corps

The Women's Relief Corps of Litchfield will long be remembered for its patriotic work.

In 1917, this body of loyal women was ready and responded to all calls of patriotic duty. There were some of its members present at every meeting of the Red Cross, knitting, sewing and making garments to help this country gain the day.

When the convention of 1917 was held at Peoria there were two large, silk flags to be given to the corps that had done the largest amount of work. S. B. Phillips Corps No. 192, of Litchfield, brought home one of the flags.

Early in the spring of 1918, we erected a fifty-foot flag pole in Library Square, then we bought a flag 6 x 8 feet and hoisted it on that pole and gave it to the city of Litchfield. We bought two silk flags and presented them to the Boy Scouts and when an old comrade is called away we place a silk flag on his casket; likewise, one goes on a Spanish-American war veteran's casket and one on the bier of a World War veteran.

In July, 1919, we presented a large silk service flag 3x6 feet to the World War Boys. There were ten Gold Stars on it to represent the ten boys from Litchfield who will never return home.

The Relief Corps solicited funds in town and country and turned over to the Red Cross the sum of $300.00. This body of women has done relief work during 1917-18 and up to July, 1919, amounting to $460.63. The W. R. C. of the State of Illinois contributed ten completely equipped ambulances during the World War and this organization stands ready at all times to do its part in any and all undertakings.

Chief Clerk, Montgomery County Local Board, served continuously from its beginning to the end. Her home is in Hillsboro.

THE EXEMPTION BOARD'S ACTIVITIES

On August 8th, 1917, the first Selective Service men were given medical examination for military service under the first rules, and were called from day to day until 1,060 men were examined, by the following physicians who constituted the Medical Examining Board during the entire period of the draft: Dr. W. W. Douglas, Dr. L. S. Brown and Dr. Z. V. Kimball, of Hillsboro, Dr. E. H. Herman, of Taylor Springs, and Dr. H. A. Seymour, Physician Member of the Board.

September 5th, 1917—12 men entrained for Camp Taylor, Ky., with Russell Brawley, Litchfield, Leader.

May 23rd—24 men sent to Jefferson Barracks, Mo., with Wm. Sides, Leader.

May 27th—118 men entrained for Camp Shelby, Miss., Olin Handschy, Leader.

May 29th—31 men were entrained for Ft. Thomas, Ky., Geo. H. Mumme appointed Leader.
 June 14th—13 men were entrained for Rahe Auto School, Kansas City, with Fred Grassel, of Butler, as Leader.

June 28th—350 men entrained for Camp Taylor, with Roy Wilson, Hillsboro, as Leader.

August 1st.—10 men entrained for Camp Taylor, Lester R. Grimm appointed Leader.

August 3rd.—7 colored men entrained for Camp Dodge, Iowa, with Colonel B. Carr, Litchfield, Leader.

September 5th—34 men entrained for Camp Custer, Mich., with Otis Frame, Leader.

The above contingents in no wise constituted all the entrainments, as the Board was constantly sending out men separately and in small numbers to all parts of the United States for services in all branches of the Army. It was not possible to have demonstrations for these men, who quietly and without display embarked for their different destinations alone or in groups to answer their country's call.

When possible, a large demonstration was given each contingent on leaving, the people of Hillsboro and surrounding towns providing them with eatables, music and speaking at the Court House.

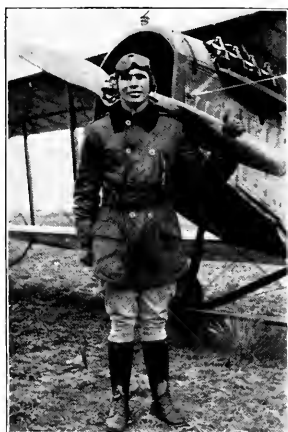

9,524 men were registered in this county, and taken care of by this Board, of which number 2,717 were examined physically, and 1,104 entrained. All but about 165 men were mailed questionnaires, the Board at the time of signing of the Armistice having mailed them to all of the last registration.

The shipping to the War Department in Washington of 4,000 lbs. of records closed the last chapter of the Local Board of Montgomery County, at Hillsboro, Illinois.

CARRIE B. LATHAM,
 Chief Clerk.

In Conclusion

"WHEN ALL WARS END"

No deadlier weapon was ever devised than the Roman short sword. This information may be nursed advantageously by those who have been deriving comfort recently out of the smug reflection that new engines of destruction and new gases are so devastating as to prohibit future conflicts.

Each war has produced new and violent machinery to destroy the enemy. Knights errant in their pot-metal were considered invincible until the Swiss upset them and proved the age-old theory that infantry is most dangerous. Artillery was once considered so destructive as to make all warfare seem impossible.

Before the World War we heard much of mysterious acids which would blot out whole cities, ammunition capable of destroying armies. Infantry remained the back bone of the military forces. The acids, gases, high explosives, planes, electricity all played their parts, but the controlling factor of warfare is unchanged.

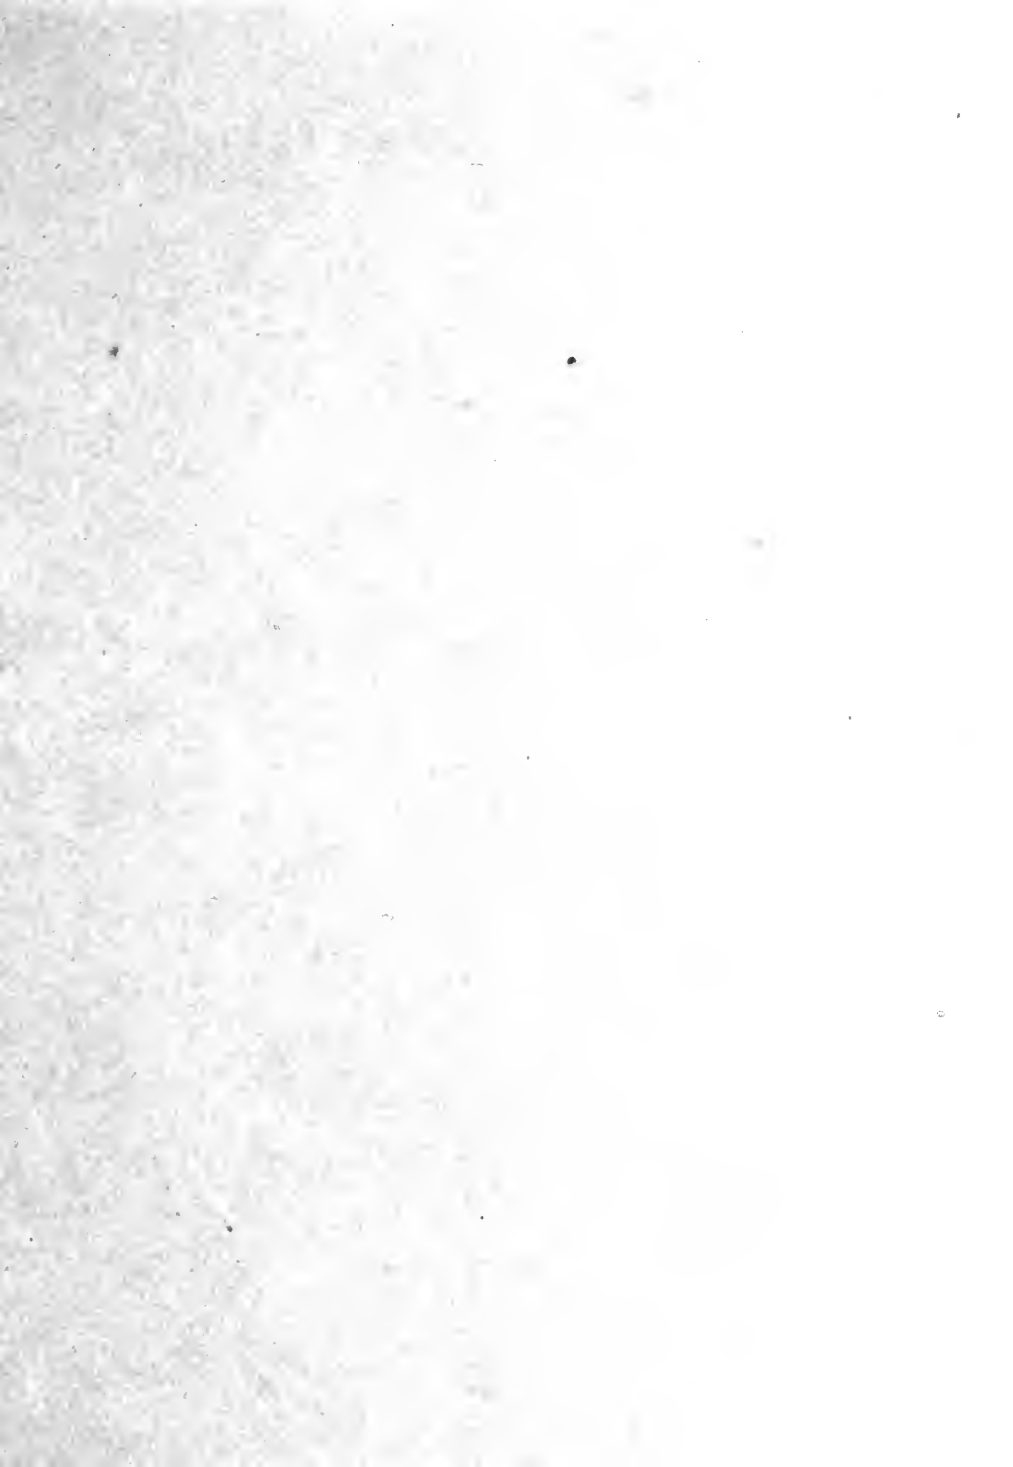

An automobile is impelled by a new energy, has more comfortable seats, many conveniences; runs on four wheels just the same; the ox-cart hasn't changed so greatly after all.

War never depended upon the destructiveness of the weapons employed, but upon the temper of human beings. The wheels of human desire, human jealousy, human loyalty, and human ambition are the same, though we have built round them a modern carriage of diplomacy and commerce.

A great shell might destroy a whole army if that army were conveniently assembled for that purpose. But when one belligerent devises a gun big enough to kill 1,000 men the other belligerent will see that a thousand men are never to be found together. Bombs may destroy cities, but the wise inhabitants of those cities will not be there when it happens, or they will devise a new bombproof.

War is not of powder but of human thought and will.
